Hayle Rose & Cabbage Summer Show.

Saturday July 23rd

Following the successful trial in 2010 when for the first time the Rose & Cabbage Gardening Club held their Summer Show at Hayle Day Care Centre, this year it has been agreed that the same venue will be used again.

Last year, as everything was untried, there were no classes for handicrafts and baking, but we feel that there will be sufficient space to re-instate these, so the classes will be: Vegetables, Fruit, Flowers, Pot Plants, Floral Art, Home Produce, Handicrafts, Photography and Gardens. The schedules are being prepared right now, and will be in the shops soon.

HAYLE COMMUNITY ARCHIVE

The Archive continues to add to its collection of historical items relating to Hayle. Our current project is to create an exhibition to be shown in the Passmore Edwards Institute commencing in April. The exhibition will celebrate the life and times of John Passmore Edwards who paid for the construction from his private fortune and Sylvanus Trevail, the architect.

The Archive is always looking for new photos, documents etc. which could help towards future projects and would be most grateful if anyone could donate or loan such items to the Archive. Donated items are stored in an archival environment which should ensure their longevity making them available to future generations. These activities are not without cost so financial donations for the continuing work of the Archive are most welcome.

You may contact the Archive at The Old Brewery Office at Sea Lane (near the Police Station), email@haylearchive.org.uk and our website www.haylearchive.org.uk

The Rose and Cabbage Club are holding a plant sale at the Day Centre annexe on May 7th - 10 am to 12. Cake and Bric a brac stalls and refreshments also. All welcome.

HAYLE SUPERMARKETS "PENALTY SHOOT OUT"

(Half time score)

Subsequent to the February edition the Supermarket Saga has entered a new phase.

On the 9th February the Strategic Planning Committee met in Truro to consider the four separate applications, however the outcome of this did not go as Cornwall Council had planned.

Viewed by a public gallery full of Hayle residents the meeting was less than an ideal example of a forum that was deciding multimillion pound schemes and indeed only lacked Brian Rix (remember him) to enter the stage and have his trousers fall down!

The ING South Quay scheme took centre stage and prompted a huge number of queries and concerns from the members who felt they were inadequately briefed on the full implications of the situation and especially with regard to Heritage and Harbour issues and the World Heritage Status. After a very confused and muddled debate the Officers recommendation for approval was rejected and in fact the application was very nearly refused.

In the end after yet more political meanderings the committee decided they did not like what they were being offered and decided on a FIVE month deferment for the obvious deficiencies and objections to be addressed by ING and CC. The main statutory consultee "English Heritage" had serious issues with the development and had stated the plan needed major alterations to overcome their objections.

This really upset the apple cart, as they now had to defer the other applications rather than risk a serious legal situation.

This they did with the exception of Sainsbury, which they refused. The idea of a five-month deferment was to allow some serious attention to the ING scheme to overcome the huge number of objections and to allow discussions with statutory (and local) bodies to see what was required to overcome them.

As both Morrisons and Asda have also been deferred this extraordinary decision may well have further implications.

There are a lot of local bodies that have shown an interest in ensuring South Quay has a quality scheme that looks after both its Harbour and Heritage aspects plus wishing to see an attraction in the area that is attractive for both locals and visitors.

The original idea for a "Pioneerium" that included a Cinema was one such proposal. It is hoped that ING will see this as an opportunity to progress the Quay with more attention to the design and local involvement.

The Hayle Pump - Worldwide readership?

It was nice to get an email from Pump reader Victoria Grau, who lives in Germany.

Victoria wrote: "My mother Lillian Thomas, nee Angove, was born in Hayle in 1918 and went to Bodriggy school. Her father was employed by J & F Pool and her brother Richard John Angove became a director of that company. My grandmother Julia Treloar's family owned Drannack Mill.

I was born in Lelant in 1941, but never lived in Cornwall, just spending all the summer and winter holidays with my grandmother in St Johns Street, so have the most marvellous memories of Copperhouse in the 40's and 50's.

My uncle, Jack Angove, played the cornet in the Camborne Brass Band and would practise in my grandmother's house."

Anyone wishing to get in touch with Lillian should contact the editor.

Do we have any other readers living around the world?

Pratts Market

This month a lot is happening in Pratts Market in Foundry Square.

There are lot of new shops opening – it is Hayle's hidden gem!

I have opened a very contemporary house shop called "The Natural Home Shop" on the top floor. Nearly everything I sell has either been made in Hayle or sourced off the beach. I do individual lamps, mirrors and candle holders – all with hand washed natural stone by David Raine, Coast Lamps; also door plaques in driftwood. You pick your own driftwood and we will design it together. These retail at £30.

I have retired down to Hayle after being in retail business for many years, but I missed the buzz and the contact with people (so to work again). I believe in supporting the small shops in our town.

Also, if any young students who work in driftwood or do modern art, would like to exhibit, they can ring me on 01736 754836.

I hope you will be excited as I am when you visit the shop which I hope will be up and running by mid March.

we need your support

In 1999 Donald Thomson wrote "Three Miles of Golden Sand" for the Pump. He likened St Ives Bay to a saucer of sand. Taking sand from anywhere in the saucer would make the level fall at the rim. In the Bay, the rim is the beach. Hayle was proud of its beach.

While other towns were buying sand to create their beaches, Hayle was dredging and selling it, supposedly to keep the channel safe but actually to subsidise harbour owners.

Donald, Denis Hollow and Harold Trevaskis held a public meeting and Save our Sand (SOS Hayle) was formed.

Harold died in 2006 but Denis and Donald continue to protest. The harbour, heart of the town, must be kept safe but dredging is not the answer. Successive harbour owners have allowed the channel to silt up dangerously: panic dredging follows which results in the beach erosion we all see. This recurring cycle of crisis management must stop. Sluicing is the solution which worked for 150 years. Unfortunately It's all down to money. Sand sales of between 600,000 and 900,000 tonnes over 30 years have kept several harbour owners solvent.

Current owners ING, a global Bank, cannot plead poverty. One of their earliest promises was the revival of sluicing. 7 years later nothing has been done. Harbour owners can only do what the authorities allow. The Hayle Harbour Act (1989) permits them to dredge where they want and sell the sand. Penwith (now Cornwall) Council, the Environment Agency and Natural England have all helped them to sell our beach.

Over the years, SOS Hayle has lobbied about dredging licence consultees, RSPB, National Trust, Duchy of Cornwall, MPs, Government Ministers and the House of Lords. We have held demonstrations, raised funds and awareness at car boots and ING harbour exhibitions, providing newspapers and local radio with information. We have worked with the Towans Partnership and the Hayle Harbour Advisory Group. Practical suggestions include using volunteers to close the Copperhouse floodgate in the event of flooding. This gate could be kept fully open most of the time to sluice the pool and channel. We also offered a temporary repair to the collapsed wall at East Quay.

If beach erosion concerns you, complain to the papers, your local and Cornwall council, your MP, the Environment Agency or Natural England. You can even sign our on-line petition to show your support.

Photograph above was taken looking towards the slope leading down to the beach June 2010 and the same slope (photograph above right) taken in February 2011.

Please come to one of our meetings held at the Passmore Edwards Institute, second Tuesday of every month at 7.30pm.

What is a "Friend's Group"?

A Friend's Group is made up of people from all walks of life who have come together with a like minded passion to raise awareness, and to help maintain our very special facility known as the Children's Hospice South West. There are over 1,000 children with life limiting conditions in the South West in need of our very special facilities.

The group in Hayle was formed in 2006, and has grown in strength every year since. Soon after the group was formed, they were thrilled to hear that the time had come for a much needed hospice in Cornwall.

The "Precious Lives" Appeal was launched in September 2007, and we are now on the last lap to finally reach our target of 5 million pounds.

The build has gone exactly to plan, and our first families are due to arrive during the Autumn.

Over the past four years the group has helped raise £103,499.00. Once "Little Harbour" is open, and our families begin to settle in, the "Friend's" Groups work will

“Ventonleague - Town Place”

A number of ordinance survey maps were produced of the historical development around the Hayle area, including the Village of Ventonleague, in 1810, 1842, 1877 and 1907.

Different properties were marked in colour over the years relating back to 1810, which included our bungalow at Ventonleague Hill.

Ordnance Survey Map 2000

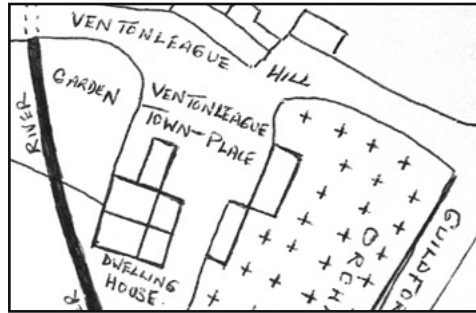

Our Bungalow

Being born in, and having lived at, Ventonleague all my life, the area where our bungalow was built I knew only as a field, positioned on the west side of Guildford Road and the south side of Ventonleague Hill.

The field was part of the Ventonleague Farm owned by the Ingram family, who kindly let this field be used by the Ventonleague United Methodist Free Church for their annual Sunday School Tea Treats which took place in the month of June.

In the 1950's, the field was developed with a number of bungalows built by Harley Ingram. Our bungalow at the back of the field was the last one to be built.

Parish of Phillack Tithe Map 1942

Further research was carried out by me concerning our bungalow. I contacted Truro Record Office and they informed me that reference could be found on the Parish of Phillack Tithe Map for 1842, showing that this area was known as “Ventonleague Town-Place”.

The entrance was from Ventonleague Hill, on the left side of the entrance was a large orchard with two properties, on the right side of the entrance was a large garden. Where our bungalow is positioned there was a large dwelling house with a garden and a well. The dwelling house was shown on different maps until the 1907 map.

At the back of this area ran the river built in 1840 by the Cornish Copper Company to fill the Mill (Ventonleague) Pond which was positioned above the Cornish Copper Company Iron Foundry Works at the west end of Ventonleague Village.

This is one of the many interesting items that can be found in the recently published book: Ventonleague -

This village played a vital part in the development of Hayle which became an outstanding Industrial Town known throughout the world.

The Latest From Hayle Library

Hayle Library is continuing to thrive. All the staff would like to thank our customers for their good wishes and kind words during the past couple of months when we were not confident of the future of our library.

The holiday season is almost upon us again and the good news is that Hayle Library will continue to be a Tourist Information Centre.

On this note, if you are a holiday accommodation provider who is registered with the Tourist Board, we would be happy to help promote your property for you. Anyone interested, please contact us on 0300 1234 111 (and ask for Hayle Library) to arrange to come in for an informal chat to see what we can do for each other.

We still have the regulars here at the library. Our juniors continue to meet and have fun at our Story Time on Wednesday at 3.45 - 4.45. Reading and Writing groups continue to meet at the library.

Hayle Library is still a UK Online Centre. If you want to know more about this, and how it works, please call in and speak to one of our friendly staff for more details. If you are not already a member of the Library, please come along and join. It's free and all you need is one proof of address.

Thanks for your continued support of our local library. We look forward to seeing you all at Hayle Library!

Hayle Open Air Swimming Pool

As a result of the budgetary crisis facing Cornwall Council the funding that has been available over the last few years to assist with the operation of the pool is being severely cut over the 2011/2012 and 2012/2013 financial years, with no funding thereafter. Clearly, this is a serious situation that could threaten the long-term operation of the pool and the Council is currently investigating ways in which it can continue to run the facility through making economies.

The most significant costs are staffing and maintenance and these are two areas where volunteers could assist in reducing the financial burden. With a view to involving the community in helping to keep this much loved facility open through the next few difficult years the Council is hoping to re-establish a 'Friends of the Pool' group which could prove to be both a source of volunteers and fund raising initiatives.

If you are interested in being involved or have ideas that might benefit the pool please contact the Town Clerk.

PLANTS ON THE TOWANS No 28 - DAFFODIL

After a late start due to the cold winter, the daffodil season is well under way now, with fields of yellow all around, and growing here and there in clumps on the Towans.

The Romans brought narcissi with them believing in the healing properties of the sap. Today a substance called galantamine is extracted from the plant to help ease Alzheimer's, and in homeopathy a remedy made from the daffodil is used in the treatment of respiratory problems, particularly bronchitis and whooping cough.

Daffodil pickers and florists, however, are not impressed with the sap which also contains calcium oxalate and causes "daffodil itch" which can be particularly uncomfortable in little cuts on the hands. Picking is also hard on the back. They need to be picked with long stems and with no yellow showing, ten to a bunch and banded. You might get 5 to 7p per bunch when picking and I have friends who have earned £100 in a day, but that is rare. Winchester Growers are the biggest in these parts and when the season slows here, some keen pickers travel up to Lincolnshire where they have more fields and, of course, a later season.

After that, more picking can be done in Scotland. The thought alone makes my back ache!

Another part of the business is the selling of the bulbs. Every two or three years they are lifted and dipped in formaldehyde; about half are sold and the rest put back in the ground. The UK exports around 10,000 tonnes of bulbs a year, half of which go to Holland.

In China, as well as being the symbol for the new year, the daffodil is associated with wealth and good fortune, and around the world is a symbol for charities working with cancer relief.

New Garden Nursery in Hayle

After many years of selling and tending plants for a large national garden centre, a local, qualified horticulturist has achieved her lifetime ambition and opened her own garden nursery in Hayle.

Everyone who visits Lavenders Blue Garden Nursery, at 1 Penpol Avenue in the Foundry area of Hayle, will immediately be able to tell that the friendly owner, Alex Knight-Smiththeram, is both knowledgeable and passionate about the plants she grows and nurtures.

Every spare inch of this lovely garden nursery is crammed with plants and there is something here for every garden - or even for the house that has only a window box. There are tiny seedlings, plants that are in full bloom as well as plants for pots and for hanging baskets. There are bedding plants, a wide variety of herbs (including some unusual mints), perennials, roses and plants for seasonal colour, as well as structural plants for year-round interest.

All of the plants are grown in the garden nursery or at Alex's larger site at Mawgan near Helston, where there is a huge polytunnel. Alex firmly believes that buying plants that have been grown locally, ensures they are used to local growing conditions and therefore stand a much better chance of doing well when planted in gardens in this area.

Alex is happy to give advice and tips on any aspect of plant care, planting schemes or gardening in general.

A quick glance around this vibrant nursery and it is obvious that the plants and herbs are healthy and extremely well cared for. They are also very competitively priced.

Already Lavenders Blue Garden Nursery is seeing many customers return time and again as they know that it is almost impossible to beat it on both price and quality.

Lavenders Blue Garden Nursery is open on most dry days and as the opening hours change with the seasons, they are usually on a sign on the garden gate.

For opening hours, special offers and gardening tips, see Facebook: Lavender's Blue, which has many followers.

Thought provoking...

What would you do differently if you knew nobody would judge you?

A Note to our advertisers

Firstly may we take this opportunity to thank all of our advertisers for their continued and valued support.

Secondly, with the staggering demand for advertising space within the Pump we need to impress the importance of confirming your advert for inclusion with payment before the 13th of each due edition.

From the next edition June/July we will be operating a stringent first come first served basis.

As the Pump is put together by volunteers who give up their valuable time to ensure that the Pump continues to find its way into the homes of Hayle, we request that all advertisers are in the position to confirm adverts with Anne-Marie our Advertising Manager during the first two weeks prior to publication.

This is the most important part of the desktop publishing process, allowing enough time for the mark up of pages ready for the content to be added.

If this process is not adhered to, the additional time spent on last minute changes, additions and amendments causes a knock on effect and can ultimately hold up the printing of the Pump and delay the availability.

Thank You, The Hayle Pump Team

The Hayle Pump – a Brief History.

The idea of a free newsletter funded by advertisements was suggested by John Nash in 1994 after he attended a course on community newsletters. He and Robb Lello had formed the 'Hayle Project Office' to try to get some projects going and together they produced a mock-up.

John came up with the name The Hayle Pump, with the idea that it suggested a number of things: a village's water pump where locals gathered to share news; recognition of Hayle's role in steam-powered pumps; and the idea of pumping up Hayle's economy by giving local people a chance to advertise their wares. They produced 4,000 copies on a photocopying machine and distributed them around Hayle.

A public meeting was called, a small committee was formed and the first real issue was published in December 1994.

In the early years the magazine was put together at Hayle Community Centre where the Project Office was based, then at committee members' homes. Circulation grew, and advertising proved successful, so in 2001 the Pump acquired an office in Pratts Market and bought a printer, computer and other equipment to improve the efficiency of the operation.

Over the 16 years of publication there have been many changes in the Pump's team, but in February 2010, just before the fire in Pratts Market unexpectedly halted production, the team consisted of: Sarah and Jeff Turk (who had been involved since the start), Goudie Charles, Tim Appleton, Don Metcalfe, Joy Scott-Manse, Valerie Becalick-Ham and Brianna Breeze.

To have kept the newsletter going for 16 years, and to have attained a circulation of 2,500 in a town with a population of 8,000 was a great achievement, made all the more remarkable by the fact that the countless hours of hard work required to keep the Pump in regular production were done on a voluntary basis.

With the Pump office unusable after the fire, the team, especially those that had been working on the Pump since its inception, decided it was time to call a halt and "retire". That could have been the end of the story. However, as Mayor, John Bennett was extremely concerned that the Pump, a valuable and much-loved institution, might be lost.

He also wanted to be sure that it remained independent and not be seen to be connected with the town council. The outgoing team, were very supportive in restarting the Pump and gave a generous donation of £600 to help with start-up expenses as well as valuable advice and information.

John was also concerned that the new Pump should use modern computer techniques as far as possible while retaining its original style. Once Brianna had agreed to be editor, the other important position was 'desk top publisher' and we were lucky to get an experienced designer in Neil to volunteer for this. Laying the Pump out electronically means that the file can be emailed to the printer and the finished documents picked up a few days later. This allows the team to focus on content and not worry about production.

Please let us know what you think – it is your newsletter.

Now the Pump is under way, John's job is done. Although he has no role in the editorial function, John has agreed to continue to assist the Pump team with management issues for a short time until it is firmly on its feet.

A woman before her time?

Elizabeth Carne, the fifth daughter of Joseph Carne, Manager of the Cornish Copper Company, was born at Rivière House, Phillack in 1817. Largely taught by her father she inherited his love of geology.

On his death in 1858 she inherited £22,000, his mineral collection, the family house in Penzance and became a partner in the bankers Batten, Carne and Carne. Under her management they established a solid reputation, building a new banking house in Market Square.

She founded schools at St Paul's Penzance, Wesley Rock, Carfury and Bosulow; and contributed to the Royal Geological Society of Cornwall and was elected as a member in 1865.

She travelled widely in Europe and wrote books on the geology of West Cornwall and Switzerland under the pseudonym John Altrayd Wittitterly. Elizabeth died of typhoid fever in Penzance in 1873, and is buried at Phillack.

Archery is an enjoyable sport which can be done by people of all ages and abilities. In our club (The Archers of the West) the lower age limit is 8 and there is no upper limit!

Enjoyment is the key and ability comes from practice. Encouragement and coaching is freely given and tournaments are open to anyone with a competitive streak, but they are by no means compulsory. Many of our archers simply come along to the field on a summers evening to soak up the fresh (and sometimes, wet) air, to shoot a few arrows and enjoy the social aspect of the sport. In the winter we are warm and dry indoors shooting at 20 yard targets and not searching for lost arrows!

From April 1st until the end of September, on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays we meet at the field at Hayle Football Club. From October 1st until the end of March, we shoot indoors at Leedstown Village Hall on Thursdays and Sundays and on Saturdays at Jubilee Hall in Ludgvan.

If anyone would like to give archery a go, then please contact our secretary:- Mr Tony Farell, 1 Chapel Crescent, Zelah, Truro, Cornwall TR4 9HN 01872 540682

Clean Cornwall Weekend is from the 7th to the 10th of April and our contribution is to have another tidy-up on the old railway line between Hayle Terrace and Hayle Railway Station. Join us at 10.00am on Sunday, 10th April at the entrance to the walk by Grameen Tandoori and bring gloves, bags, wheelbarrows and tools.

We will have a skip for general rubbish and our objective is to remove rubbish and to tidy up with grass cutting, trimming, etc.

If you can bring a mower or scythe, chainsaw or lopping shears that would be great.

Please donate a couple of hours and help us to make this a great place for walkers to enjoy.

THE SLAG BLOCKS OF HAYLE - Part 3

Throughout the time that the blocks were being made, they were supplied free to employees, and people who built on company land. Others were charged at the rate of 6 pence for 20 blocks. Most in evidence are the type 'B' blocks used in major civil engineering works such as the Copperhouse Dock, the Black Bridge and Road, and the King George V Memorial Walk embankment.

The main concentration of domestic buildings is in the Ventonleague/ Copperhouse area. Good examples of typical cottages can be seen in Caroline Row, Ventonleague, Glebe Row and sundry cottages in Phillack.

Many can be found in Copperhouse including Market Place, Commercial Road, Fore Street (south side) and St John's Street (north side). Public buildings include Phillack Church Hall, the 'Old Vestry' of Phillack Church, the wall that once lined Copperhouse Chapel, and parts of the cinema building.

Interesting examples of the use of the blocks, which show the versatility of the builders of the time, are the steps to Clifton Terrace, the Lych Gate of Lelant Church and the walls lining the road from Lelant Station to the village. There are extensive walls of slag blocks in Phillack Churchtown and around Riviere House, and higher up the hill are the barns and house of Riviere Farm.

Type 'B' blocks when used for domestic building were usually laid in a simple stretcher bond, but for major projects such as the Copperhouse Dock (adjacent to the Co-operative Supermarket), header courses were adopted, a very expensive process but giving strength and solidity. Many smaller cottages were built with slag blocks up to the first floor level, the upper part being finished with cob walls. Another popular method was to use the blocks as quoins at the corner of buildings, and to frame doorways and windows in a 'Gibbs' surround pattern, the rest of the walls being of non-dressed stone.

Type 'A' blocks can be seen surmounting walls in many of the locations listed above, usually laid in a straight continuous ridge, but sometimes they are laid side by side consecutively to form a decorative 'Dragon's Tooth' effect.

The very few type 'C' blocks are now only to be found near to the Black Bridge. Many of the blocks have been moved to secondary locations in the two centuries since production ceased, and odd groups of blocks can be seen in various parts of Hayle and outlying districts such as Wall, Gwinear and Treswithian, Camborne.

The Council Corner

Allotments - Work on the cemetery extension and allotments off Lethlean Lane, Phillack has been completed and the majority of the plots have been allocated. While there are some minor issues still to be resolved, the site is looking good and, those plot holders who have already started work, are finding the soil to be potentially very fertile and are hoping for great things from a site that is so favourably located. Unfortunately the waiting list is considerably longer than the number of plots available but we are continuing to add names to the list in case there is some turnover of plots. However, it is fair to say, that given the early reactions from most of the allotment holders, there may not be many that become available through this route.

Hayle Community Centre - If you are planning on holding any meetings, events, classes or even parties the Community Centre has rooms available for casual hire. Space is available for regular sessions or one off bookings. Remember that CAB, Link into Learning and others hold regular sessions and surgeries. As a result of some changes in tenants at the Centre there are also likely to be some offices available for long-term renting so, if you represent a local community organisation that needs accommodation either on a one-off basis or more permanently, please contact the Town Clerk for details of services and available space.

Hayle Town Guide - Copies of the 2nd Hayle Town Guide are still available and a concentrated effort to distribute these around the town will be made prior to Easter. However if you would like copies to give to visitors and/or guests sooner please feel to collect them from the Town Clerk's office, between 9.30am and 12.30pm Monday to Friday.

Small Grants Available - Hayle Town Council annually awards capital grants to local clubs and organisations. If your group is in need of new equipment, kit or requires funds to secure other sources of funding for larger projects please contact the Town Clerk for an application form. The Council's Resource Committee considers grants quarterly; the next meeting is scheduled for 14 April 2011. For consideration at that meeting please submit your completed application form by 6 April 2011.

Further information on the above or any other issues can be obtained from the Council website.

HAYLE SAMBA

Thursday, 17 March 2011
Hayle Samba Continues to Grow.

By the time you read this, the Hayle Samba Band will have completed its first public gig, as part of the celebrations for the of the Hayle Area Plan 'Discover Hayle Map & Website Launch', held on March 26th.

We hope to be playing at the opening day of the Hayle swimming pool this year, if the forthcoming bridge construction plans don't hamper the planned opening. The band has also been booked for a place in one of the Golowan Mazey Day parades in Penzance.

The band continues to go from strength to strength, and we are now available for future bookings for, fetes, celebrations and festivals, etc.

We continue to be on the lookout for new members, as the more players there are the greater the sound and the greater the visual impact.

So the invitation to all you budding samba players, come along to one of our rehearsal nights and give it a go, you will always be welcome. Don't worry about what you can play, we have plenty of various instruments for you to try, and find out what suits you best.

The band still meets every Wednesday night in the meeting hall to the rear of the Royal Standard in Hayle, we are new and happy band, and are looking forward to meeting you.

For more information, you can contact Joy or Frank on 01736 754976, Dani on 01736 762475 or Martin on 01736 752021.

Oral History Book

New copies of Hayle Oral History Project's book, 'Churks, Clidgy & Doodle-Dashers, Hayle Tales and Trails', are available at the Discover Hayle Launch, Hayle Day Care Centre 26th March at 11.00am to 2.30pm. Alternatively they are available during Archive opening hours or Hayle Library after the 26th March for £5.

They will not contain the multimedia DVD but that can be bought separately for £3 on the day or from the Archive or accessed for free online. The book can also be looked at free online: <http://hayletaleshome.blogspot.com/>

If you have loose pages in your original copy this was due to a one-off glue problem and the printer is replacing them. Please come with your damaged copy to do a straight swap (at the Discover Hayle Launch or during Archive opening hours) at no cost to you. The new copies have sewn-in pages and will last for a long time!

Please do remove your DVD from the original copy before you swap! I'm sorry, we cannot take any more reservations for the books, (we took some at the launch when we ran out!) but there are 1,500 copies available this time. Tel: 01736 753962 online: www.hayletaleshome.blogspot.com

See you there, yours Lucy (funding has finished so I am working on the project as a volunteer).

Praze Hayle Choir

Praze Hayle choir has not been hibernating - it has been rehearsing!

The choir has already built up a challenging programme of concerts and other musical events for the coming concert season which begins at St, Bartholomew's church, Porthleven, on Sunday 27th of March (as this is before publication day, the concert will have been performed, no doubt to great applause, by the time you read this!)

So hard practice has been the order of the day with several new pieces being introduced to the choir by our Musical Director Anne Birch. Verdi's 'Bandit's Chorus', Adam's 'Comrades in Arms', Beethoven's 'Creation's Hymn', Vaughn Williams' 'Fain Would I Change That Note', Gounod's 'Hymn to Apollo', Cole Porter's 'In The Still Of The Night' and the spiritual 'My Lord What A Mornin' all these are in preparation and will receive their first performances with the choir in the coming months.

Following on from Porthleven, we will be singing at the Trevithick Day celebrations in Camborne on Saturday April 30th and with three visiting choirs at St. Elwyn's in Hayle on Sunday May 1st as part on the International Male Voice Choir Festival. Sunday May 8th will see us at Carbis Bay Methodist Chapel and on Saturday 14th may we will be at

Millpond Update - "A First Hint Of Spring"

I guess we have had it all this winter, but now that the snow and frosts have melted away and the February monsoons have blown over, the first signs of spring have started to appear. Primroses are beginning to bloom along the Rope Walk and clumps of daffodils are making bright splashes of gold around the ponds and in the gardens.

As the slightly milder weather arrived, our "cold weather" visitors began to depart. The tufted ducks and gadwall have left the Millponds together with most of the Redwings. The Water Rails and Little Grebes are still with us but we did, however, have one notable visitor at the start of February.

Freya, our young female sawn, returned after six months absence on the estuary where she had joined a group of swans, but it seems she felt the need to revisit her old haunts for a while. She stayed with us for about a month and then left the ponds again. Being a single female, Freya will probably visit us periodically until she eventually finds a mate. Then, perhaps, they will accept the Millponds as home, like our previous pairs.

The milder weather also seems to have prompted some of the ducks to move up to Copperhouse. At least two pairs are back with their summer "foster families" already and by the end of March the rest will have joined them. I never know whether to apologise for their antics in advance or wait until they return home again.

I just hope that we will have a good breeding season this year, and we get everyone back safely at the end of it.

The Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Hayle has been busy... As a Club who are concerned with local, national and International situations, members have been helping out at Shelter box preparing boxes for distribution to Japan and other disaster zones.

We also take an active part within the community by offering support of various kinds to the local Day Centre, youth project and giving professional support to numerous organisations.

Every year we hold the club section of Rotary Youth Speaks where teams compete from local schools and go through to area and District Finals. They comprise of a team of three junior school pupils who debate a subject. A team from Bodriggy School this year were successful in local and area rounds and gained third place at the District Final which was held recently at Bodmin where they acquitted themselves very well against 8 other teams from across Cornwall and Plymouth. We can be very proud of our young students. Well, done to Jacob, Danny and Jack with the subject 'Is stardom worth wishing for?'

You may have noticed a splash of purple colour in various locations across the town. Rotarians across Great Britain this year have been planting hundreds of thousands of purple crocuses, they highlight the on going International Polio Eradication Project that Rotary across the world are supporting alongside the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. The Eradication of Polio in India and parts of Africa is one of the most important aspects of Rotary at the moment.

Locally we are supporting this year the St Julia's Hospice Appeal 'Build the Vision.' The next event in conjunction with Hayle Inner Wheel and St Julia's Hospice volunteers is THE BIG BRUNCH this is to be held at Hayle Day Care Centre on Sunday 10th April between 10.00am and 1.30pm.

On Saturday 9th April in conjunction with Stroke Awareness and the Co-op we will be holding a morning when the community will have the opportunity to get their blood pressure checked by qualified staff. In the past it has proved beneficial to the health of many individuals who have been advised to visit to their Doctor.

It is my honour to be President of the Rotary Club of Hayle, which has the privilege to serve and support the town of Hayle.

The Hayle Rotary Club welcomes all interested like minded people prepared to give 'Service above Self.'

Hayle Local Vocalz

Hayle Local Vocalz have adopted the Marie Curie Cancer Care as the choir charity this year. A proportion of money raised at choir events will be going to support the work of the Cornwall Marie Curie Cancer Care Nurses.

45 ladies are seeking some gentlemen for evenings of making harmony together! The choir still needs more men to swell the ranks, as well as two or three additional sopranos. If you would like to come along for a 'no obligation' session, please come and give us a try. There are lots of gentlemen who sing with male voice choirs who have yet to discover the joys of mixed voice choral singing! Many members of Local Vocalz sing with other local choirs and this is positively encouraged. Rehearsals are held on Monday evenings at 8.00pm in Passmore Edwards Institute in Hayle.

The choir is currently learning new repertoire in readiness for concerts in Porthleven, Hayle, St Ives, Newlyn, Helston, Penzance and Truro Cathedral. The choir will also be taking part in two local music festivals, a charity massed choirs performance at Gwennap Pit Amphitheatre and two special "Last Night of the Proms" style concerts in St Ives and Penzance. As the newest of the five choirs based in and around Hayle, Local Vocalz are keen to encourage links with the local community and the choir is willing to perform concerts and other engagements for churches, organisations and charities in the town.

Contact Neil Shepherd on 01736 759944 or e-mail neilshepherd@yahoo.co.uk for further information.

The choir website can be found at www.localvocalz.co.uk

Next Thursday there will be tryouts for the choir. They will need all the help they can get.

A bit of light humour

A London lawyer and a Cornishman are sitting next to each other on a journey, aboard the Cornish Riviera, from Penzance to Paddington. The lawyer - naturally big headed coming from London - is thinking that all Cornishmen are all rustic simpletons, and that he can easily fool them. So, the lawyer asks if the Cornishman would like to play a fun game to pass the time away. The Cornishman was tired, but due to the lawyer's persistence claiming it will be fun, he agreed. The lawyer said, ' I ask you a question, and if you don't know the answer, you pay me £5; you then ask me a question, and if I don't know the answer, I will pay you £500.' As can be expected, this catches the Cornishman's attention so agreed to play. The lawyer asks the first question, 'What's the distance from Earth to the moon?' The Cornishman not saying a word, reaches in his pocket, pulls out a £5 note and hands it to the lawyer. He then asks the lawyer, 'What goes up a hill with three legs, and comes down with four?' And, with that he closes his eyes and aims to have a nap. The lawyer uses his laptop frantically looking for the answer, but gave up after a hour of searching. So, he shakes the Cornishman - who had now gone to sleep, and hands him £500. The Cornishman pockets the £500 and tries to go back to sleep. The lawyer, in desperation to know the answer, shakes the Cornishman and asks, 'Well, what does go up the hill with three legs and comes down with four?' The Cornishman reaches in his pocket, hands the lawyer £5 and goes back to sleep.

The moral of the story is, don't mess with Cornishmen, we only talk different!

THE GODREY TEAM MINISTRY GWINEAR CELEBRATIONS THIS SPECIAL YEAR

Gwinear Church has been with us since the coming from Ireland of Gwinear with his sister Piala in the 6th century. These two saints established Christianity here but we don't really know exactly when because it was such a long time ago. What we do know is that this year is the 750th anniversary of the first named vicar of Gwinear Church, one Robert FitzRobert in 1261. So Gwinear Church with Wall Chapel and the whole community are to hold a series of festive events to celebrate Robert's institution.

Events arranged so far are:

8th May Thanksgiving Service in the church at 4.00pm with Bishop Tim Thornton followed by a celebratory tea.

22nd May The City of Truro Male Choir in Wall Chapel at 7.30pm.

17th June Historic Talk given by Jo Mattingley at 6.30pm in the church.

24th June Midsummer Bonfire at Lanyon.

2nd July Garden Fete in 'The Old Vicarage' at 2.00pm.

1st – 3rd July Flower Festival in the church.

7th Aug Lammastide Service at 3.00pm at Nanpusker.

9th Sept David Thomas talks about Gwinear in the church.

10th Sept The huge Tithe Map will be on display in the church for the CHCT ride. Gwinear bells will be rung as part of the Autumn Deanery Bell Festival.

24th Sept Old Bull & Bush Music Hall evening in The Hall for Gwinear.

9th Oct Harvest Thanksgiving at 6.00pm.

14th Oct A Medieval Banquet at 6.30pm in The Hall for Gwinear.

The following events are still in the planning stage:

A series of organ recitals, A walk to the ancient site of Gwinear Well, The performance of the 'Gwinear Mystery Play' – amateur actors and actresses are desperately needed! So why not 'come and join us'?

Ellie's Enterprise

I heard that my school was doing an exciting project called 'Barracuda's Bank' – an enterprise and entrepreneurship competition that challenged us to come up with a brilliant and innovative product that could be sold to holiday makers from home and abroad. I quickly took up the challenge and thought that it would be a great opportunity as it would be good for me in the future.

After being selected for the final I had to present to the 'Barracudas' which was exciting but still nerve racking! The Barracudas (local business people: Sue Morris, Sam Philp and Roger Knight) said that my product was great and when I make more of my product they would sell it in their shops!

Ellie Clifford, Year 8

When I won the competition I felt amazing as I could sell my product and be a business girl. But as well as that side of things I was thinking what I could spend the £100 I had won! There was also a surprise in store for all the finalists – Mrs Jackman gave us £150 to spend on a day out of our choice.

I have gained competitive skills and business enterprise skills from doing Barracudas Bank; I have also gained in confidence. Now, I would really like to go into business in the future. With the £100 money I won I am going to buy some clothes and accessories! I am also hoping to produce more of my product for holiday makers and locals to buy so I will also use some of my winnings for this.

It has been a very good experience for everyone who was involved, including me. I would thoroughly recommend it to anyone who ever gets the opportunity to get involved in Barracuda's Bank. I would like to say a big thank you to: the Barracudas, my family, Jackie from RB Sails and everyone at Hayle Community School who have supported me all the way through.

It is our policy to keep our customers informed at all times, the fault, cause, cure and estimated cost will be reported to the customer before we carry out any repair work.

We recognise that it is important to use Original Equipment (OE) parts and the manufacturer's recommended engine lubricants to prevent premature engine damage, and this is our standard practice.
