Rhyme time having fun with local children

I love this part of the job working at the Pump, The newsletter is put together in Hayle by Hayle people for the Hayle people. The Hayle day care centre does such a good job for the elderly in the town we thought it would be nice to pay them a visit and present them a cheque for a thousand pounds to help with the winter bills and on-going costs which are spiralling for all businesses & organisations. If you're interested this is what they offer:

Hospice South West has been caring for babies, children and young people with life-threatening and life-limiting conditions by providing hospice care and professional family support services. The care offered at each of our 3 hospices is not just about medical and nursing support for babies, children and young people but enriching the lives of them and their whole family.

Can we thank Badger Inn Lelant for their most generous donation of £8288.27.

The Badger has been a supporter of Little Harbour the Children's Hospice in Cornwall for many years.

There are many children in the South West living with a life limiting illness.

The pressure this puts on the whole family is enormous and the parents and carers need the care and help given at Little Harbour. Sometimes all they need is time to rest or be a parent not a carer for a few days. Siblings are given time to do things for themselves and have fun doing the things they enjoy or talking to someone to help them through a very difficult time.

The sick child is encouraged to have as much fun as is possible in any 24 hours.

Little Harbour is there to care for the families for as long as they are needed.

The donations and support given by supporters helps to ease the strain and be there for those that need it most.

To the Badger we say a big THANK YOU.

Hi All.

Well, the festive season is now over. We do hope you all had a Very Happy Christmas. and we do wish a Happy New Year, to One and All.

Easter will soon be upon us, when we will be hoping to perform our next pantomime "Sinbad", in the Day Care Centre, from the 3rd to the 6th of April at 2.30pm each day.

Watch out on Facebook for more details nearer April. Rehearsals are ongoing and Lin has once again written a good script but sadly we lost two of our members due to health problems, beginning of January but with the help of everyone and a few changes to the script things are moving along.

Supporting you through life's waves.

Exciting news! We will shortly be under going some major building works to create two new consulting rooms! Whilst we are very excited about this there will be some significant disruption to the waiting room/ lobby area. Our builders are going to try and do most of the work out of hours but there are some things they will need to do whilst we are open.

We thank you in advance for your understanding and co-operation. We will do our best to keep things running as smoothly as possible!

I'm writing from the National Animal Welfare Trust to share the impact of Storm Goretti on our Cornwall Rescue Centre. While all our animals are safe, the storm has caused serious damage to key outdoor areas, including the dog exercise mound and our garage.

The dog exercise mound is currently unsafe, with fencing damaged and trees fallen.

A large tree has crushed the storage garage. Urgent repairs are needed to restore spaces essential for the wellbeing of our dogs.

All animals are safe, and our team is working hard to rebuild and reopen the affected areas.

We have set up a Just Giving page for anyone who would like to help us financially towards the cost of the work:

Election – West Ward Vacancy
Hayle Town Council needs just one person to stand for election in the West Ward. Once this position is filled, the Council will be able to address the remaining vacant seats through the process of co-option. As no nominations were received at the recent election, the election will need to be re-run in the coming weeks. If you want information or are interested in finding out what being a councillor involves, why not attend our Council or Committee meetings?

You are welcome to contact the Town Clerk's office or speak with any of our serving councillors for an informal chat at any time.

of the late John Pollard's outstanding contribution and service to the town.

The landscaping work was carried out by Hayle-based contractors Sharp Country Landscapes, planting was designed by Sarah Jarman. The site was secured through a Section 106 agreement, and we were successful in obtaining £100,000 of CIL funding to deliver the project. While obtaining the site and the securing of approvals to address contamination did present challenges, it has all been worthwhile to see the garden looking successfully established for the whole community to enjoy.

We are thrilled to announce that Hayle Town Council has been successful in securing a £10,000 grant towards the purchase and installation of additional CCTV equipment in the town.

It has also enabled us to carry out further consultation and engagement work with young people and also people with disabilities, this helping to ensure the interior design meets the needs of all users. Hayle Community Action Group

We're back!

After a short pause, Hayle Community Action Group (HCAG) is relaunching, and we're excited to share some of the positive progress made behind the scenes. The group temporarily stopped meeting while we were waiting for a response from the Charity Commission. Unfortunately, our application for charitable status was not successful. However, at the relaunch meeting on 12 November, HCAG members agreed the need to move forward as a Community Benefit Society (CBS) — a more proactive and viable alternative that allows us to continue our work for Hayle.

Hayle Community Action Group is positive, proactive, and works collaboratively with Hayle Town Council to help improve our town.

Our other weekly sessions in January were at Upton Towans, a site of special scientific Interest, where, as at Godrevy Warren, we're continuing to clear invasive species which threaten the native plants.

We'll be working at various sites across the Towans and at Gwithian Green in the coming months, and everyone is welcome to join us. The practical conservation sessions run from 10am to 2pm on most Tuesdays. Please see our website www.friendsofthetowans.org.uk for more details about each session and where to meet. We recommend wearing stout footwear and clothing suitable for working outside in the exposed environment of the Towans, including a hat and waterproofs. At the start of each session, there's an introduction to what we're doing, along with a briefing on safe tool use and ways of working.

We stop for a tea break mid-morning and then again later for lunch. Bring your own drinks and lunch, but we do supply biscuits. Everyone is encouraged to work at a pace that suits them, taking breaks when they need to, and asking if there's anything they're not sure about.

Please book in advance if you'd like to come to one of our sessions, by messaging 07393 522875 or emailing friendsofthetowans@gmail.com so we can make sure we have enough equipment and biscuits! Sessions may be cancelled due to bad weather, but we do our best to contact everyone who's booked. Would you like to be part of our team of volunteer pony checkers?

The conservation grazing ponies are on the Towans over the winter and spring to help manage the important dune habitat.

We're looking for a few more people to join our team of checkers, who regularly visit the grazing sites, checking on the health and welfare of the ponies, and that they're where they're meant to be.

It's a great way to go out regularly for a walk and get some fresh air!

Full training is given, and no experience is necessary.

Are you Interested?

Nature Notes

Living in this small town, with countryside all around and beaches close at hand, we possibly experience more 'nature' than those living in big towns or cities. Having watched a documentary by the gt David Attenborough made me rethink my impressions.

The documentary is called Wild London, and during the course of the hour-long film, it is revealed that London is the greenest Capital City in the World, and has more green spaces than most, provided by parks and gardens.

Sir David introduces us to the many forms of wildlife that now call London home. It is strange to see a herd of red deer walking across busy roads among heavy traffic. He shows us peregrines nesting on some of the high buildings. We see beavers in a City wetland. Harvest mice are reintroduced to fields within sight of Cen London. Hedgehogs and foxes roam suburban streets and gardens by night. The film shows Sir David getting up close and personal with the amazing creatures, and more.

I recommend this beautiful film to everyone. It gives hope for the future, amidst all the doom and gloom we hear.

Please watch it!

Anti-Social Behaviour in Hayle

I have lived in Hayle for a few years now. It's a great little town with friendly people willing to pass the time of day. But sad to say, we have an unknown group who seem hell-bent on spoiling things. One sees red road cones chucked into the river, sometimes with a shopping trolley for company. The flower pots and gardens, lovingly tended by volunteers, get trashed, or rubbish stuffed in among the plants. Road signs get moved around. The lovely Christmas tree in the recreation ground was stripped of its decorations, which were strewn all around, and the tree itself had branches torn off. Toilet rolls from the park toilets are often seen, unrolled and spread far and wide. Litter from night-time takeaway feasts is left wherever it falls, or is thrown, even when a litter bin is nearby. As I walk my dog each morning, I see these things, and wonder how and why the culprits can get away with it. Their actions are politely called Anti-Social Behaviour these days. I'm sure I am not alone in finding it shocking.

Thoughtless and inconsiderate actions such as these, and more, happen frequently. I have to wonder, where is the parental control, and, what is ever done about these frequent actions against our community by the authorities?

I can't help thinking that a few more police patrols would help. When was the last time you saw a policeman, apart from those driving through town with blue lights and sirens? With the thought of a police officer around the corner that could turn up anytime would these miscreants be so brazen in their anti-social behaviour? While the misdemeanours mentioned above may not be criminal acts, surely they can lead to more serious behaviour – I got away with that, let's try this! Perhaps when we see the destruction left behind by these people, ring the Council and the Police.

Send them photographs. If we trouble them enough, we might get something done. It is wrong to see our town trashed by a few troublesome youngsters. (name supplied)

Happy New Year!

Christmas is over and we're passed New Year and fast approaching Valentine's Day! This lights season we had more than our fair share of problems with the lights but people have thanked us for our efforts and told us they enjoyed them all the same.

We appreciate that so much. The storm in the beginning of January certainly didn't help either! The lights frames are going to need maintenance and repairs once again. Please donate if you can. We don't have regular funding. We couldn't put up lights at the Millpond area due to some issues beyond our control but we did put up two new lights frames at Sanders Fish and Chips, new lights at Loaded and a new frame on top of the redeveloped toilet block area before it was blown down. We plan to replace the smaller building light up trees and some other parts this year.

Special thanks to two new members: Danny and Lee. They helped us on the lights takedown day and it was done in 3 hours instead of two days!
Great job everyone!

We in the Bloom (HIB) would like to give Spring a huge welcome and our volunteers will, again, be trying to encourage 'early colour' for Easter in Hayle. It has been decided that, this year, our theme will be Hayle Sunsets, so that our principal floral colours will be oranges, yellows and reds to remind all Hayle residents and, indeed, visitors of those fabulous summertime sunsets over Hayle Bay. All the plants for planting out tubs, troughs and baskets throughout the town have been ordered and we're feeling prepared for the 'start'. A significant initiative this year by South West in Bloom (SWIB) is to expand the opportunities for schools to become more involved in the summer judging process and our Deputy Chair, Nick Reynolds, will be contacting schools shortly to explain these changes and their

The Institution of Hayle Mayor

Many people ask about the institution of the Mayor of Hayle. The following is offered for interest and information.

Local government in England for towns with a long history and large population rested in the creation of a "Charter Borough". This was achieved by the granting of a Charter of Incorporation by the reigning monarch, vesting authority in the Mayor and Corporation to administer the town – Penzance, 1614, St Ives 1639.

Rural areas tended to be administered by the rule of the "squire" or lord of each manor, parish meeting (vestry) or local justice of the peace.

Local government in all areas dates from a number of Parliamentary Acts passed in the nineteenth century – starting in 1835 (Municipal Corporations Act). These gave extra powers to existing organisations to cope with the increase in urban living and the need for water supplies, sewerage, law and order, medical and Poor Law provision.

Under the terms of the local Government Act of 1858, two local 'boards' were created in Hayle on 16 March 1866. In 1894 these were changed into urban district councils – Hayle Urban District (9 members) in the western end of the town, Phillack Urban District Council (15 members) at the eastern end.

These were abolished in 1934 and absorbed into West Penwith Rural District Council, leaving the former Hayle and Phillack councils as parish councils which were amalgamated to form the new Hayle Parish Council in 1935. So, in this area, there were four forms of local government – county council, the rural district council, urban councils: Penzance and St Ives, and the parishes. The existing system of local government was created in 1974. The county council remained but all other statutory requirements became the responsibility of the new Penwith District Council. Under this act the 'parish' level remained, but larger areas could establish themselves as 'town councils' – still with only parish responsibility but with the right to create a mayor. It was under this arrangement that Hayle created its first mayor although some councillors were anxious that such titles might incur greater expense! Interestingly Penzance gave up its mayor, only to reinstate the office at a later date. St Ives kept its mayor but still only retained parish powers. This is why Penzance and St Ives have robes and maces and all the paraphernalia which are relics from their charter status.

Hayle adopted 'town' status on the 1 April 1974. The minutes show that the former chairman, John Sleeman, now took the title of mayor. Hayle's first was also its shortest serving as he completed his term and handed the mayoralty to WE Garnish Esq two months later!

The first insignia used by the Hayle Mayor was of beaten copper made by Bertie Cargeeg, who also made the regalia for the Grand Bard. The council minutes of 27 April 1977 explain that Councillor Fred Ponting suggested that a better type of medallion should be acquired. He said the existing one was “very cumbersome and there has been criticism of it from outside the town.”

The matter created debate among the councillors for some time and mention appears on several sets of minutes but finally a new silver chain was designed and made by Robin Kewell in the shape of a six point star (each point representing one of the manors making up the town- Riviere, Pulsack, Trevassack, Trellissick, Bodriggy and Penpol). The chemical symbols for iron and copper surround a central boss depicting the SS Cornubia sailing across the bay.

A special meeting was held on 25 September 1980 for the “acceptance and dedication of the new Mayoral Insignia”. Councillor Ponting, the man who had originally raised the issue was the first mayor to wear the chain. Robin Kewell gave his services ‘free of any charge to the townspeople’ and J&F Pool Ltd donated the cost of the bulk of the materials used. Reverend Harwood performed the blessing and the High Sheriff of Cornwall, Mr Gerald Pawle, made the official presentation. In 1985 a medallion was provided for the mayor’s consort.

Mayors must be serving members of the council and are elected each May for a term of one year. Many mayors have served for two terms. The mayor wears the chain of office at all times when acting as ‘the mayor’. It distinguishes them as the leader of the community and is their badge of office.

Hayle’s silver chain is very special and much admired. It is totally individual and unique, an expression of the town itself!
